DOCUMENTS Accompanying the Message of the President of March 22, 1808. [COXCLUDED.]

Papers relative to French Affairs.

Paris, Sept. 18, 1807. I have submitted, sir, to his majesty the emperor and king, the doubts of his excellency the minister of marine and colo. nies, on the extent of some of the provi. sions of the imperial decree of Nov. 21st. 1806, which has declared the British islands in a state of bluckade; the follow. ing are the intentions of his majesty on the point in question:

1. Can armed vessels, under the imperial decree of the 21st of Nov. last, scize in neutral vessels ei her English property or merchandize proceeding from the mapufactures of the English territories?

His majesty notified me, that since he had not thought proper to express any exception in his decree, there is no ground to make any in the execution, with respect to any thing whatever.

2. His majosty has not decided the ques; tion whether French armed vessels may possess themselves of neutral vessels go. ing to or from England, although they have no English merchandize on board.

3. On the question, whether French armed vessels are subject to the deduction ordered by the sixth article of the decree of Nov. 21, his majesty has declared that the provision of that article was not susceptible of any restriction; that is to say, that the deduction must take effect on the proceeds of all confiscations of merchandize and property, which have been, or may be, pronounced in execution of the decree, without regard to the place of seizure or character of the captors.

You will be so good, sir, as to notify these decisions to the council of prizes, to have them entered in the registers, and to acknowledge the receipt of my letter.

Accept, &c. &c. the grand judge, mi. nister of Justice.

(Signed) REGNIER. Procureur general imperial of the council of prizes.

SIR.

Paris, 24th Sept. 1807.

I have this moment learned, that a new and extended construction, highly injuriabout to be given to the imperial decree of the 21st of Nov. last. It is therefore incumbent upon me to ask from your excel lency an explanation of his majesty's views in relation to this subject, and particularly whether it be his majesty's intention, in any degree to infract the obligations of the treaty now subsisting between the U. S. and the French empire?

I pray your excellency, &c. &c. (Signed) JOHN ARMSTRONG. His excellency the Minister of foreign relations.

Fontainebleau, Oct. 7, 1807.

You did me the honor on the 24th of Sepi. to request me to send you some ex. planations as to the execution of the de cree of blockade of the British islands, as so vessels of the U.S.

The provisions of all the regulations and treaties relative to a state of blockade, have appeared applicable to the existing circumstances, and it results from the explanations which have been addressed to me by the imperial procureur general of the council of prizes, that his majesty has considered every neutral vessel, going from English ports, with cargoes of Eng. lish merchandise or English origin, as lawfully seizable by French armed vest sels.

The decree of blockade has been now issued eleven months, the principal powers of Europe, far from protesting against its provisions, have adopted them; they have perceived that its execution must be complete, to render it more effectual, and it has seemed easy to reconcile these measures with the observance of treaties, especially at a time when the infractions, by England, of the rights of all maritime pow ers render their interest common, and tend to unite them in support of the same Gause.

(Signed)

CHAMPAGNY.

M. E. Gen. Armstrong, Min. Plen. of the U. States.

Paris, Nov. 1807. BIB.

from Mr. Skipwith a copy of the decree of the council of prizes, in the case of the Horizon. This is the first unfriendly decision of that budy under the decree of the Statof November, 1806. In this case & on the petition of the delendant, the court has recommended the restoration of the whole cargo. I did not however think pro. per to join in asking as a favor, what I believed myself entitled to as a right. I subjoin a copy of my note to the minister of foreign effairs.

And am sir, your most obedient humble scrvant.

IOHN ARMSTRONG Mr. Madison, Oc.

[Signed]

Paris, Nov. 12th, 1807.

The document to which these observations are prefixed, will inform your ex. cellency that an American ship trading under the protection of the laws of nerious and of particular treaties, and suffering shipwreck on the coast of France, has recently been seized by his majesty's officers, and adjudged by his council of prizes as follows, viz.

"Our council puts at liberty the American vessel, the Horizon, shipwrecked the 30th of May last, near Morlais, and consequently orders, that the amount of the sale legally made of the wreck of the said vessel, together with the merchandize of the cargo, which according to an estimate made in presence of the overseers of the administrations of the marine and custom house, shall be acknowledged not to pro. ceed either from English manufactures or territory, shall be restored to captain Mac Clure without deducting any other expend es but those relative to the sale."

"And with regard to the other merchan. dize of the cargo which from the result of the said estimate shall be acknowledged to come from maoufactures or from Eoglish territory by virtue of the 5th article of the decree of the 21st November, 1806, they shall be confiscated for the use of the state, the whole to be sold by the forms prescrib ed in the regulations; and the application of the product to be made in conformi y to the arrangements of the said decree, de. duction being made for the expence of sav. ing the goods, and that of the support of the crew, until the day that the captain shall receive the notification of the present de.

The reasons upon which this decision is alad, are at ource so new and so glarm ing to the present friendly relation of the two powers, that I cannot but discuss them with a freedom in some degree proportion ed to my sense of their novelty and impor-

"Considering," says the council, "that the neutrality of the ship and cargo were sufficiently established, the whole ought to be restored, Sagreeably to the provisions of the convention of the 30th of Septem. ber, 1800] provided no merchangise of English or gin hadbeen found in her and of course that she had not been bro't within the limits of the imperial decree of the 21st of Nov. 1806 "

Here is an open and unqualified admis sion that the ship was found within the rules prescribed by the convention of 1800, that according to these rules, her cargo & herself ought to have been restored, and that such would have been the fact but for the operation of the decree of the 21st of Nov. 1806.

In the letter your excellency did me the honor to write to me on the 7th of October last, you thought it "easy to reconcile the obligations of this decree, with the preservation of those arising from treaties." It was not for me to examine the means by which this reconciliation was to be effected. They no doubt fully existed, and yet exist, in his majesty's good pleasure, and taking for granted this fact, I saw in the opinion nothing but proofs of a friendly disposition, and pledges that this was not to be either wantonly destroyed or diminished. How inauspicious however to its authority and the consolation derived from it, is this recent act of the council of prizes? An act which explicitly acknowledges the opposite characters and conflicting injunctions of these two instruments, and which of course draws after it considerations the most serious to the government of the United States.

The 2d reason of the council is " that the decree declaring British merchandize good prize, had principally in view captures made on the high seas, but that the question whether ship-wrecked goods ought to be restored or confiscated having always been judged under the 14th article of the regulation of the 26th of July, 1778. And according to their character (that might have rendered lawful, or have even commanded their seizure at seal there is no room to introduce in this case any new distinction which, however philanthropic it may appear, has not as yet been adopted and myself of this occasion, to recall to your ated as a rule by any maritime nation."

3d. That the opinion being that of an inditention the subject of my letter of the twenty. It was not till yesterday that I received ed as a rule by any maritime nation."

The doctrine resisted in this passage, and vidual, could not possess either the force of the authority of one truly ministerial which inculcates the duty of extending protection to the unfortunate, is not new to his majesty's council of prizes. They have themselves consecrated it by their decision of the 5th of March, 1800. By that decision they restored an enemy's ship on the single reason, that she had been compelled to enter a French port by stress of weather. " I should equally fail," says the attorney general, " in respect to myself and the council, before whom I have the honor to represent the government, were I not to maintain a principle, consecrated by our laws and by those of all nations. In all circumstances let the loyalty of the French government serve as the basis of your decisions. Prove yourselves at once generous and just :- your enemies will know and respect your magnanimity." Such was the priciple adopted by the council in the year 1800, and in the case of an enemy's ship, yet we are now told, that this very principle, so honorable to the court, to the nation and to human nature, is utterly unknown to all maritime people. And on what occasion do we hear this? When an enemy's ship is again thrown on the French coast ! No-It has been reserved for the wreck of a neutral and friendly vessel! for a ship of the United States? It is not denied, that had this ship escaped the rocks and made the port of Morlaix, the only inhospitality to which she would have been exposed, (under the most rigorous interpretation of the law in question) would have been that of being ordered again to sea. Has then the misfortune of shipwreck so far altered her condition, as to expose her to the injury of confiscation also? And is this among the principles which the defender of maritime rights means to consecrate by his power and his wisdom? It is impossible.

The third reason of the council is, "that the application of the fifth article aforesaid, in as far as it concerns the Americans and other nations, is the result both of the general expressions of that very article, and of the communication recently made by his excellency the grand judge, concerning the primitive intention of the sovereign, that the expedition in question, having certainly been undertaken with full knowledge of the said decree, no objection can be drawn with any propriety from the general rules forbidding a retro-spective action, nor in this particular case, from the posterior date of the act in which the sovereign decides the question, since that act sprung from his supreme wisdom, not as an interpretation of a doubtful point, but as a declaration of an anterior and positive dispo-

A distinction is here attempted to be taken between the interpretation of a doubtful point, and the declaration of an anterior and positive rule. This distinction cannot be maintained: for if the rule had been positive, there would have been no occasion for the declaration; neither the minister of marine nor the council of prizes could have had any doubts on the subject; the execution of the decree would have been prompt and peremptory; nor would a second act on the part of his majesty, after the lapse of twelve months, have been necessary to give operation to the first. Need I appeal to your excellency's memory for the facts on which these remarks turn? You know that doubts did exist-you know that there was under them, even much hesitation in pronouncing-you know that as late as the ninth of August, I sought an explanation of the decree in question, and that even then your excellency, [who was surely a competent and legitimate organ of his majesty] did not think yourself prepared to give it—the conclusion is inevitable—his majesty's answer transmitted to the court of Paris, on the eighteenth of Sept. following, through the medium of the grand judge, was in the nature of an interpretation, and being so, could not without possessing a retro-active quality apply to events many months anterior in date to itself. The fourth reason of the council, and the last which enters into my present view of the subject, is, "that though one of the principal agents of his majesty had given a contrary opinion, of which the suncil had at no period partaken, this opinion being that of an individual could not (whatever consideration its author may merit) balance the formal declaration given in the name of his majesty himself -and that if the communication of this opinion, had, as is alledged, given room to and served as a basis for many American shipments, and particularly of the one in question; this circumstance, which may call for the indulgence of his majesty, in a case in which the confiscation is entirely to the advantage of the state, does not prevent a council, rigid in its duty, to pronounce in conformity to the decree of the the twenty-first of November, and of the declaration which followed it."

It would appear from the paragraph, that not finding it easy to unite the knot, the council had determined to cut it. Pressed by the fact, that an interpretation of the decree had been given by a munister of his majesty, specially charged with its execution, they would now escape from this fact, and from the conclusion to which it evidently leads, by alledg-

1st. That at no time has the council partaken of the opinion given by the minister; the authority of one truly ministerial.

It appears to me, as I think it will to you excellency, that the council have in these statements, been less correct than is usual with them on similar occasions, if, as they no assert, they have never partaken of the mini sters opinion. If they have never even hes tated on the question, whether the decree November, did or did not, derogate from treaty of 1800! Why, I ask, suspend American cases generally? or why decide they did in the case of the Hibernia! mistake not, we find in this case the negocia tion of the very principle laid down by minister of marine. That officer says "in a opinion the November decree does not work any change in the rule at present observed with respect to neutral commerce, and conse. quently none in the convention of the art Vendem year 9."and what says the council? " Admitting that this part of the cargo the rum and ginger) was of British origin, the dispositions of the Nov. decree, which contain nothing with regard to their own influence over the convention of the 8th Vendem, Jear 9, evidently cannot be applied to a ship lear. ing America on the 6th of the same month of November, and of course cannot have author rised her capture in the moment she was entering the neutral port of her destination."_ We have here three distinct grounds of exemption from the effects of the November

1st. The entire silence of that decree with regard to its own influence over the convention of 1800.

2d. The early period at which the ship left the U. States, and

3d. The neutral character of the port to which she was destined. If such, sin, were the principles admitted by the comcil of the 25th of March last, with what correctness can it bo now said, " that at no period have they partaken of the epinion of the minister?"

The 2d fact asserted by the council is, that the interpretation of the decree in question given on the 24th of Dec. 1806, was private not public, or in other words, that it was the interpretation of the man not that of the mimister and as such cannot outweigh the more recent declaration coming immediately from his majesty himself.

On the comparative weight of these declarations I shall say nothing nor shall I do more to repel the first part of the insinuation (that the minister's declaration was that only of the individual) than to submit to your excellency my letter of the 20th of December, 1806, claiming from the minister an official interpretation of the decree in question, and his answer of the 24th of the same month giving to me the interpretation demanded.

To your excellency who as late as the 21st of Aug. last, considered the minister of marine as the natural organ of his majesty's will, in whatever regarded the decree aforesaid, and who actually applied to him for information relating to it—this allegation of the council of prizes, and the reasoning found ed upon it cannot but appear very extraordinary, and will justify me in requesting that his majesty may be moved to set aside the decision in question.

I beg, &c. &c. His Excellency, The minister of foreign relations,

Paris, August 9th. 1807.

Your excellency is not unapprized that soon after the promulgation of the imperial decree of the twenty-first of November last, one of similar character and injunction was issued by the Prince of Peace, in behalf of his Catholic majesty. Under this order sundry vessels belonging to the citizens of the U.S. have been captured on the high seas, brought into the ports of Spain, and are now before. the court of admiralty for examination. To this brief statement I now subjoin an extract from a letter of the twenty-seventh ult. from the charge des affaires of the United States at Madrid, which will shew your excellency that the fate of these vessels will depend not on the construction which might be given to the Spanish decree by the Spanish tribunals; but on the practice which shall have been established by France, under her decree of Nov. last, and that prince Messerano has accordingly been directed to ask from your excelly such exposition of that decree, and of the practice under it, as shall regulate, on this head, the conduct of Spanish courts and cruizers towards neutral commerce in general-Assured as I feel myself, that this exposition whenever given, will not be less friendly and liberal than that already found in the decisions of his imperial majesty's council of prizes, and correspondence of his minister of marine, viz. that the provisions of the decree in question do not infract any of the rights of commerce stipulated by treaty between France & the United States, it is incumbent on me to pray your excellency that it (the exposition required) be given as expeditiously as possible, to the end that the legitimate commerce of the United States be relieved from all further annoyance, growing out of the doubtful

CASE OF JOHN SMITH.

This being the day assigned for hearing comsel, the President said the senate were ready to hear the counsel of John Smith, in my thing they had to offer why the resolution FOR EXPELLING HIM ! should not be adopt-

Mr. Adams submitted it to the senate, wheher it was not most proper that the counsel should be permitted to show cause, why the refirst should not be adopted. He remarked that in like cases the whole report, comprising the grounds on which the final resolution was founded, had been the subject of discussion, adofapprobation or rejection. He considered this the correct course, that the world and posterity might know the grounds on which the senate acted.

A short conversation ensued on this sugges. tion of Mr. Adams, in which the principles of the report were incidentally noticed. In reply to Mr. Adams' remarks, it was said that it could not be expected that a deliberate body, however agreed in the guilt or innocence of the accused, would be able to unite in their Agreement to a complicated report, embracing a variety of abstract and disputable princi-

Mr. Giles intimated the idea that this discussion was premature; that as the senase had by their vote determined to hear counsel in the report, it was proper that this course thould, in the present stage of the business, be pursued. After having heard counsel, it would be for the senate, as they then should see fit, either to decide on the resolution aone, or on the report connected with it.

This suggestion having been acquiesced in,

without any vote,

Mr. Key, of counsel for Mr. Smith, asked for subptenas for Messrs. Davenport, Morrow and Sturges, of the house of representatives, to attest the credibility of witnesses; and likewise for a subpoena for general Wilkin-

It was intimated that the usual mode of proceeding in such a case was to request the attendance of the members of the other

Mr Key then opened the defence by a few very concise preliminary remarks. He observed that the counsel of Mr Smith felt highly gratified in appearing before the senate with a body of testimony sufficiently strong to flatter them with the assurance of a Averable result; that all the apprehensions which had arisen from the distance and the stent of the testimony were almost removed; d that although testimony was still coming to permit his coming from the city. in they were fully satisfied with that they had already received.

He said that they would be able to shew that the testimony of Elias Glover was not worthy of credit. He admitted that if his testimony were correct, John Smith was unworthy of his seat; but they would be able entirely to destroy its weight by destroying his credibility. They would, likewise, be able to shew that there was nothing else in the other testimony which materially affected the character of the accused. They would also, after this, enter into a consideration of the principles on which a decision in this case that decision could only be made according to legal evidence; that the Senate were bound by judicial principles, and that the accused was consequently entitled to the same privileges as he would be in a court of justice.

Mr. Key said he should first proceed to ofer depositions to discredit Elias Glover. He on be made soon.

as well by accumulation of interest and charges, any, but likewise by his own declarations at Your excellency will do me the honor to life, as to sich, ever since he entered into perjured himself, he had a many instances inducements to perjuryould then shew his by establishing the existence of combina-tion, of which he was the hear to win Mr.

Mr. Key was about to read sundy depositions taken at Newtown, Connecibut. Previous to this he read the certificates of) notice given by Mr. Smith to Mr. Glover of his purpose to take depositions relative to his character. From these it appeared that Mr. Smith had on the 10th of February notified him of his intention to take dopositions at Pelhi, N Y. on the 15th Feb. at Newtown, (Connecticut) on the 20th-in the Mississippi Territory on the 26th-at Cincinnati the

Mr. Crawford objected to reading these depositions. He observed that they went seriously to affect the character of Mr. Glover; that the Senate had, in such a case prescribed that the depositions should only be received in case of reasonable notice baving been given to the person whose character it was intended to discredit; that in this case no such reasonable notice had been allowed, that the notice was too short to be of the least use to Mr. Glover.

Mr. Harper of counsel for Mr. Smith, observed that as much time had been given by Mr. Smith as he could possibly spare. The times fixed for taking depositions at the several places had been as distant as they could be consistently with Mr. Smith's getting the testimony forwarded to the seat of government by the 1st of March; the period then fixed by the senate for his hear.

Mr. S. Smith stated that, although the resolution fixing the 1st of March for a hearing had passed on the 20 h of January the notices of Mr. Smith were not dated till the 10th of Pebruary, at Berrysville, in Virginia, where he had put them into the

A short debate followed, in which the principal circumstances noticed were, that according to Mr. Smith's affidavit, on which the first postposement had taken place, it was not expected that depositions to discredit E. Glover's would be taken at any other place than Cincipnati-that, if these depositions, though informal were read, they would be taken by the Sena e only for what they were worth and that, if exparte evidence was received in favor of Mr. Smith, it could not be, rejected when

On reading the depositions, 17 members being a majority, rose in the affirmative.

The coursel then read the depositions of Calvin Chamberlain, Henry Peck, jun. Ely Perry, Wm. Meeker, Daniel Wheeler, Joen Norfrog, Luther Eulkley, Zalmon Tousy, jun. Cyrus Sprindle, James Nichalls, Solomon Booth, Oliver Tousy, Gidean Fisher, Stephen Beers, jun. N. Hays, Joseph Michin, Solomon M. Sackriden. James Monger, Homer R. Phelps, Joshua H. The work entitled, "The Planter & Mariner's Medical Companion," which you were good enough to submit to my examination, I have read very attentively, and I consider it the most useful popular treatise on medicine, ever ablished.

The writings of Tissot, Buchan, and Reese, on this subject, have deservedly acquired reputation, but their practice is a dapted rather to the diseases of the countries in which they lived, than to those of our own.

A well digested work, in a style plain and familiar, which should inculcate a practice suited to the diseases of the United States has been long required. You have now supplied the want. I trust that your mry valuable book may be widely circulated. It is certainly calculated to do much opinion, with advantage, possess one of Printing in all its various branches good. DEAR SIR,

We have read over your publication entitled the "Planter's and Mariner's Medical Companion" with much satisfaction, and consider it as meriting esteem for the concise & accurate history waich it gives of the various diseases of the human body, (lew if any of which, we believe are omitted) and the method of care, which, is both rational and agreeable to our experience. We are happy that you have made use of the new facts that have occurred in medicine, in that plain and easy manner which tenders them easy to be comprehended and acred upon by persons of moderste kouwlrage in disease. We can recommend it, with propriety, to that class of citizens who have not an opportunity or means of procuring regular medical advice, and consider it as fully answering the in. tention of your benevolence to people of these states, in its compilation. Mount-Washington for Sale.

will seiony FARM in Fairfax county, and give immediate possession. It is less tuan three miles from Alexandria, and si from the George-Town ferry—the distance from the projected bridge will be less-the house stands on an elevated hill, and over looks the City, Alexandria, the river, with the shore, and hills of Maryland. The house which I erected, and is nearly finished, consists of a center house two stories high, and wings of one, joined to it, by circular comdors, the north wing contains 2 small rooms the front of it, and the corridor adjoining intended for a green house, this leads to a drawing room-a dining room separated from it by the passage and stair-case, is next to the south corridor which contains & closets, and leads to the kitchen-two small rooms if this wing with the kitchen-a pump of excellent water at the door. The second story of the center house contains 3 chambers and a dressing room, with fire places-a large closet adjoins the dining room-one of the same size opens on the stair case, both fitted up with shelves-a store room in the garret, and cupulo on the house top, from whence is seen a delightful, variegated landscape, completes the description of the mansion house. A next cottage accommodates laborers, and there are stables, a carriage house, and ice house; the farm contains 103 acres, 70 enclosed and cultivated, the rest in wood; this place boasts the finest collection of fruit that I have seen, besides every other sort; the list given to me was 800 apples, 800 peaches, and 300 cherry trees: I have added several hundred of the best kinds .- The garden consists of 12 large squares, the soil enriched and borders filled with fruit trees, and bushes; it is surrounded by a live codar hedge, which also extends on each side of the house : the former proprietor possessed much taste, and collected mun ornamental trees and shrubs, which are it diciously disposed about the grounds. The soil is suitable for grass, and the portion ground devoted to timothy and clover, yield an Jundant crop; it produced good wheat and outs last year, and I think with small expence may be rendered productive. Those who wish a recidence, where health will he preserved, and convenience of intercourse with Alexandria, George-Town, and the seat of government, will find all combined in Mount-Washington, I will show the premises and impart the terms of sale, upon apple cations by letters directed to the Post-Off e ELIZA P. LAW Alexandria. ALSO FOR SALE,

Farming implements, an ox cart, two barshear ploughs with harness, one shovel do. one iron toothed harrow, two scythes and era-
